Since 1937 the Freeport Tuna Club has been home to a dedicated block of Long Island fishermen who represent a diverse cross-section of society. The club currently has over 200 active members, hosts over 50 fishing events each year, and distributes over 100 awards and trophies annually to its members for their achievements.

From April to October we have weekly outdoor meetings including a barbecue, where members get a chance to crew up with each other for fishing adventures. We also participate in many inter-club and intra-club events. This year's calendar has 117 annual awards and fishing derby (contest) prizes being awarded to the clubs 200+ members.
